PARKEVILLE HYDROPATHIC INSTITUTE.

AT a meeting of the Board of Managers of the Parkeville Hydropathic Institute, held fifth month 15th, 1850, Joseph A. Weder, M. D., was unanimously elected Resident Physician in the place of Dr. Dexter, resigned. Having made various improvements, this institute is now prepared to receive an additional number of patients; and from Dr. Weder's well-known skill and practical experience in Europe, (acquired under Vincenz Preissnitz, the founder of the Hydropathic system.) and for several years past in this country, and particularly in the city of Philadelphia, (where he has had many patients,) the Managers believe the afflicted will find him an able and an attentive physician. General Description of the Purkeville Hydropathic Institute. The main building is three stories high, standing back from the street about one hundred feet, with a semicircular grass plot in front, and contains thirty to forty rooms. On the left of the entrance to these grounds is a cottage containing the the entrance to these grounds is a cottage containing four rooms, used by male patients as a bathing house, with every convenience for "packing," bathing, &c.; on the right of the entrance, about two hundred feet distant, stands a similar cottage, used by the ladies for similar nurroses.

The hydrant water is introduced into these cottages a well as into the main building, and all the waste water

THE WATER WORKS

Consist of a circular stone building, standing on the brow of a hill, surmounted by a large cedar reservoir containing five hundred barrels, brought from a never-failing spring of pure cold water in the side of the hill, by "a hydraulic ram," a self-acting machine of cast iron, that is kept constantly going, night and day, by the descent of the water from the spring. The surplus water is earried from the reservoir to a fountain in the water-works yard, surrounded by weeping willows. In the first story of the water-works is a circular room, containing the douche bath, which is a stream falling from a height of about thirty feet, and can be varied in size from half an inch to an inch and a half in diameter. Adjoining the douche room is a dressing room, with marble tables, &c.; the rising douche (for the cure of piles, &c.) is one of the most complete contrivances of the kind, being entirely under the control of the patient using the same.

There are many other appliances, which can be better understood by a personal examination.

EEARS PICTORIAL FAMILY PUBLICATIONS are decidedly the best books that agents can possibly employ their time in supplying to the people of the United States. They are valuable for reference, and should be possessed by every family in this great republic. There is not a city or town in these United States, not even those of small importance, but contains many citizens to whom these works are indispensable. They are adapted to the literary wants of the Christian, the patriot, the statesman, and the domestic circle, got up in a superior style of art and workmanship; and are not only such books as will sell, but are such as an agent of good principle will feel free to recommend, and willing to see the purchaser again after they have been bought.

Our Plax.—The plan the publisher has so successfully carried out for several years, is the obtaining responsible men as agents, who are well known in their own counties, towns, and villages, and have time and disposition to circulate good and instructive books among their neighbors and friends. Any person wishing to embark in the enterprise will risk little in sending $25 or $50, for which he will receive an assortment as he may direct, at the wholesale cash prices.

Enterprising and active men of respectability and good address, would do well to engage in the sale of the above volumes; and all postmasters, clergymen, book pediars, and newspaper agents, are respectfully requested to act as our agents. A handsome remuneration allowed to all who engage in their sale. For particulars address, post paid, ROBERT SEARS, 128 Nassau street, N. Y.

To publishers of newspapers throughout the United States: Newspapers copying this advertisement entire, without any alteration or abridgment, (including this notice,) and giving it a few inside insertions, shall receive a copy of any of our $2 50 or $3 works, subject to their order, by sending direct to the publisher.

In consequence of the great number of complaints which have for a long time been made by Emigrants, of frauds committed upon them in the sending of money to their friends in Ireland, and to aid and protect the Emigrant the Irish Emigrant Society established a fund, deposited in the Bank of Ireland, upon which they draw drafts, payable at sight, at any of the branches of the Bank.

Persons residing out of the city, by enclosing in a letter the sum they wish forwarded, with the plainly written direction to whom and where it is to be paid, will have the same remitted.

AMERICAN TELEGRAPH

THE CROSS-CUT CANAL.

To the Editors of the American Telegraph. GENTLEMEN: It ill becomes the wealthy city of Baltimore to be envious or jealous of her ancient sister Alexandria lest she should obtain a fair share of her legitimate trade. The time was when she was the larger seaport; and that she may recover some of her ancient renown is the wish of many a patriotic heart. Long and anxiously have her enterprising citizens looked to the completion of the canal, to revive her drooping energies; and now that the prize is within her grasp, the proud and selfish City of Monuments is taking measures to cut her off, and defeat and blast her fond hopes of honor-able competition in commerce and manufac-

But we may smile at the dilemma of our grea Having tried from the first to defeat the canal, by running a railroad parallel with it, and thus cut off and divert the trade, and secure to herself the monopoly, she now finds that the canal will carry a large tonnage on its bosom to Alexandria; and to draw this commerce from its natural outlet, the lateral canal must be made.

But "thereby hangs a tale;" for if this expensive work should be done, then the railroad will be injured, and Washington will obtain water-power on her northern confines, and the additional impetus which will be given to business will build up a part of Washington now lying dormant. Their united interests will then carry the canal to the Ohio, and thus open an artery for the commerce of the West, which will build up not only Washington, but George-town and Alexandria also. Baltimore would be much benefited, no doubt, but would realize the truth of an old saying, that "the prosperity of one neighbor is the prosperity of another. A LOOKER-ON.

LADIES' UNION BENEVOLENT AND EM-PLOYMENT SOCIETY.

The Managers of the Ladies' Union Benevo lent and Employment Society have deferred ac-knowledging the following donations received since last November until the list should be complete. In returning their thanks to the kind donors, they hope to be excused for giving publicity to their names without their sanction; it is done with the hope that so praiseworthy an example will be followed by others, and they call upon all who are charitably disposed not to relax in their efforts to sustain an institution which has already proved a source of substantial benefit to the industrious poor of the city. Donation from Beacon Lodge (Odd-Fellows) Rev. Mr. Allen Col. Larned - -Purser Stockton -A. O. Dayton, esq. - - - A friend, through Jas. Adams, esq. 5 00 Mrs. Keep - - - - Capt, and Mrs. Sanders -10 00 A friend, through the Post Office, Mr. Wyman's Exhibition Jacob Gideon, esq. From the Assemblies 50 00 Mrs. Wm. Stone -The above are exclusive of the annual subcriptions.

Upon receiving an intimation that the man agers might find it expedient to suspend the operations of the Society, unless it should be more extensively patronized, several of the workwomen employed by the institution ad-dressed to the ladies the following touching appeals, which they have thought proper to lay before the public, in all their affecting simplicity, not doubting they will plead more effectually, in behalf of an institution fraught with so much comfort and encouragement to the poor,

To the Managers of the Employment Society : "I wish, ladies, that you would continue the ociety on my account, as I stand greatly in need of work.

"I, for another, beg, for pity's sake, and on account of my poor starving children, that the ladies of the poor—I mean the Managers—will try to keep up the Society. If so, they will find their reward in heaven.

"For the sake of my three fatherless children beg an interest in the Managers of the Society, and trust they will not give it up, for I do not know what I should have done this winter if it had not been for the work that I got from them; and when the Society had none, Mrs. Griffin would get work in private families for me.

"For pity's sake, continue to assist a poor widow by giving her work-it is all she asks.

"We also subscribe to the above.

By order of the Board.

THE USEFUL MORE ENDURING THAN THE BEAU TIFUL.-The tomb of Moses is unknown; but Jacob. The gorgeous palace of the wisest and wealthiest of monarchs, with the cedar, and gold, and ivory, and even the great Temple of Jerusalem, hallowed by the visible glory of the Deity himself, are gone; but Solomon's reservoirs are as perfect as ever. Of the ancient architecture of the Holy City, not one stone is left upon another; but the pool of Bethesda commands the pilgrim's reverence at the present day. The columns of Persepolis are moulder-ing into dust; but its cisterns and aqueducts remain to challenge our admiration. The golden house of Nero is a mass of ruins; but the Aqua Claudia still pours into Rome its limpid stream. The Temple of the Sun in Tadmor, in the wilderness, has fallen; but its fountain sparkles as freshly in his rays as when thousands of worshippers thronged its lofty colonnades. . It may be that London will share the fate of Babylon, and nothing be left to mark its site save mounds of crumbling brickwork. The Thames will continue to flow as it does now; and if any work of art should still rise over the deep ocean of time, we may well believe that it will be neither a palace nor a temple, but some vast aqueduct or reservoir; and if any name should still flash through the mist of antiquity, it will probably be that of the man who in his day sought the happiness of his fellow-men rather than their glory, and linked his memory to some great work of national utility and benevolence. This is the true glory which outlives all others, and shines with un dying lustre from generation to generation, imparting to works something of its own immortality, and in some degree rescuing them from the ruin which overtakes the ordinary monu-ments of historical tradition or mere magnificance. THE IVORY TRADE,—Few persons have an idea of the value and extent of the importations of ivory into Southampton, principally from Alexandria, by the Peninsular and Oriental Company's steamers. The demand has greatly increased during the last few years; though the supply has been considerably aug-mented, it is not equal to the demand. The tusks and pieces (nearly 3,000 in all) brought here by the Ripon on her last voyage were lately sold by public auction in London, and readily realized from 18s. to 25s. per pound, the whole producing nearly £25,000, the greater portion of which was paid down immediately, a discount of 2½ per cent. being allowed for cash, but the payment is not extended beyond one month from the day of sale. It appears that large quantities of tusks which have been from in the deserts of tusks which have been from time to time shed by wild elephants are found in the deserts of Arabia. These are brought up principally on account of the pasha of Egypt, and then transmitted to England for sale. Some of the teeth imported in the Ripon were of this class, and in an advanced state of decay, such as it must have taken centuries to produce.

[Hampshire Independent. REASONS FOR KEEPING THE TEETH CLEAN. At a meeting of the American Academy, De-cember, 1848, a paper was read by Dr. H. J. Bowditch, on the animal and vegetable parasities infesting the teeth, with the effects of different agents in causing their removal and destruction. Microscopical examinations had been made of the matter deposited on the teeth case animal and vegetable parasities in great numbers had been discovered. Of the animal parasities there were three or four species, and of the vegetable one or two. In fact, the only persons whose mouths were found to be com pletely free from them, cleaned their teeth four times daily, using soap once. One or two of these individuals also passed a thread between the teeth to cleanse them more effectually. all cases the number of the parasities was greater in proportion to the neglect of cleanliness. The effect of the application of various agents was also noticed. Tobacco juice and smoke did not impair their vitality in the least. The same was also true of the chlorine toothwash, of pulverized bark, of soda, ammonia, and various other popular detergents. The application of soap, however, appeared to destro them instantly. We may hence infer that this is the best and most proper specific for cleansing the teeth. In all cases where it has been tried, it receives unqualified commendation. It may also be proper to add, that none but the purest white soap, free from all discolorations, CONVENTS IN ITALY .- In the sitting of the 27th ult., of the Chamber of Deputies of Turin, Signor Peyrone developed a proposition of considerable importance in the present position of Piedmont with respect to Rome. The first ar-ticle directs that no person under twenty-one years of age shall take religious vows in a convent. By article 2, such persons must have lived in society at least six months within the period of two years before taking their vows.

Art. 3 prescribes that no foreigner who shall have taken vows in other countries, contrary to the rules laid down in the preceding articles, shall be admitted into a religious community within the Sardinian States. Art. 4 extends this provision to Sardinian subjects who have taken vows in foreign countries. Art. 5 provides that any person accepting vows, or allowing them to be taken contrary to the above provisions, shall be punished with five years' exile; and any person taking such vows shall be deprived of civil rights. The Chamber took this bill into consideration by an immense majority.

PRETTY GOOD. - A certain tight-fisted old odger of Cincinnati happened in at Foster's Philosophical Instrument manufactory, a few weeks since, where he was shown the Lord's Prayer engraved in a space about the size of a five-cent piece, with which he was well pleased. Returning home he related the circumstance to his family, and a prodigal son coming into the sitting-room, the following ensued:

"My son, would you suppose that the Lord's Prayer could be engraved in a space no larger than the area of a half-dime?"

"Well, yes, father; if a half-dime is as large in every body's eye as in yours, I think there would be no difficulty in putting it on about four times."

ELLIS, in his narrative of Captain Jane's voyage, says that he carried a frozen mass of what he believed to be peat, and laid it before the fire, when presently the whole room was filled with a cloud of mosquitoes. They had clustered together and became a frozen mass, like discontinued, owing to the ill health of Mr. bees when about to throw off their swarms.

ALL A HOAX.—The Chestertown Herald, of Tuesday, says that the report that Drummond had made a confession in relation to the massacre of the Cosden family is altogether untrue. The Herald adds: "Webster is perfectly quiet, and is patiently awaiting his trial, which will take place at the adjourned court, in this county, in May next."

Then a hoax is a lie, and the Herald, if it

PROGRESS OF REFORM IN MICHIGAN .- Among the acts adopted by the late Legislature, was one abolishing all laws for the collection of debt. Michigan has now in force the most of the national reform measures. No land limita-tion law has yet been enacted, although the homestead has long been exempted. A number of mercantile firms and dealers in Kalamazoo, since the adoption of the law relating to debt. have announced their intention of publishing the names of all delinquents, "being well con-vinced (as they say) that no man of good in-tentions and honorable principles will allow himself to be thus posted before his neighbors and fellow-citizens."

CALIFORNIA STEAM AND COAL .- There are eighty-three steamers, large and small, running from ports in California, the whole tonnage of which is 19,600. The entire consumption of coal per month for these vessels is 6,300 tons, of which about one-third is anthracite, and two-

MOUNTAINS ON FIRE .- The mountains north east of Pottsville, Pa., in the early part of last week were on fire, enveloping the whole region in clouds of smoke. These fires appear to be of annual occurrence, and are very destructive to the growing timber.
